

How have we acknowledged the principle of "Knowledge is constructed uniquely and individually, in multiple ways, through a variety of authentic tools, resources, experiences, and contexts."

What deliberate things did we do?	What was the effect?	What questions do we have?
Data gathering  Groups > Individuals > Group > Individuals P M I / SWOT / JIGSAWING	Personalised plans and documents Acknowledging and recognising that your school is not an island (others rely on you and others are in the same boat too.)	We are completely focussed on this for our students but are we doing this for ourselves within our cluster group? How do we share resources? What is the most effective way to distribute information / planning etc?